THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR No. 29.

SIXTH CHANCERY CLERKS CONVENTION HELD IN BAY ST. LOUIS THIS WEEK

Addresses By Chancellor D. M. Russell, Judge V. A. Griffith and County Attorney E. J. Gex Feature Convention—Full Program of Entertainment is Arranged.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

As a tribute to their efficiency and popularity, the same officers were unanimously re-elected on Thursday afternoon, August 1, namely:

H. K. Rouse, Poplarville, President.

J. G. Sheard, Vicksburg, vice-president.

A. G. Favre, Bay St. Louis, secretary-treasurer.

Next place of meeting will be selected Thursday night at the banquet on the Markham Hotel roof, Gulfport. Lt. Gov. Adam will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Fifty clerks attended the sixth annual convention of chancery clerks at Bay St. Louis this week and each of the 50 are now Coast boosters, if one is to judge by the happiness which radiates from these visitors who express themselves as overwhelmed at the many courtesies and fine welcome accorded them here. A. G. Favre, secretary-treasurer of the state association and general chairman of the convention, is to be congratulated upon the success of the meeting and he in turn expresses his appreciation to the local committees from the Chamber of Commerce and others who cooperated in making the convention a success.

Opening Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, at the Hotel Weston, with the invocation by Rev. Leo F. Fahey of Bay St. Louis, the convention got under way following the program laid out.

After clerks were greeted and introduced two addresses of welcome were given, H. S. Weston, president of Hancock county board of supervisors, speaking in behalf of the county, and R. L. Genin, county attorney, presenting the greeting of the city of Bay St. Louis. The response was made by H. K. Rouse of Pearl River, president of the association. Appointment of committees and Judge Russell's address preceded the adjournment for lunch.

J. G. Sheard, vice president, and A. G. Favre of Bay St. Louis, secretary-treasurer, are in their chairs.

Judge Russell's Address.

Judge D. M. Russell of Gulfport, chancellor of the eighth district, addressed the clerks at the opening session Tuesday morning using as his subject, Duties and Responsibilities of the Chancery Clerk, discussing the major phases of these duties. He characterized the chancery clerk as the "most important, most used officer of the county."

He emphasized the duties of the clerk as a clerk of the chancery court as distinguished from his duties in reference to his other court duties, outlining those duties as required by the code chapters in chancery court, in the subject of process, discussing also bonds and costs and dockets, how they should be kept and according to the form laid down. He stressed the most important statute in the code of 1927 regarding chancery clerks bringing out the most important provisions of Judge V. A. Griffith's treatise on Mississippi Chancery Practice. Incidentally he discussed the chancery clerk's duties as county auditor and as clerk of the board of supervisors.

Judge Russell said that he felt qualified to discuss the subject chosen from his nine years intimate and related association with 21 chancery clerks serving 17 counties. The chancery clerk is a sort of encyclopedia of information reflected by the public records in his custody and as such he is used unsparingly, he said.

In showing the relation of the clerk and the chancellor Judge Russell drew his analogy from an old English court in which the lord chancellor was clerk to the king.

Regarding the dockets the speaker stressed the importance of properly keeping in general docket, saying: "Where the first entry and the last entry—every entry—must be made in every cause." In stressing the importance of prompt filing to the statutes securing costs and disposition of state cases, and reference was made to the system in this district requiring costs in estates to be paid in every annual accounting, and the companion rule that only residents of this state are appointed to serve as executors or administrators. Concerning bonds the importance of accounting only such bonds as are "underwritten by duly authorized indemnity companies" was urged as the only safe security.

In conclusion Judge Russell complimented the clerks on their attain-

TO WHOM SUCCESS OF CONVENTION IS DUE

CHANCERY CLERK A. G. FAVRE.

It was through the indefatigable efforts of Chancery Clerk A. G. Favre, of Hancock county last year, the sixth annual convention of Mississippi State Chancery Clerks' convention was brought to Bay St. Louis this year.

It was through the untiring efforts and intelligent application of Clerk A. G. Favre the convention, which met in Bay St. Louis, this week, was an unqualified success and that from every angle. And it is well to say so. The convention covered a period of three days, every moment filled with either business or recreation. There was not a lagging nor a dull moment. Every element of constructiveness entered into the body's deliberations.

Mr. Favre says he was given a hearty co-operation and is thankful for same, fully realizing and appreciating every assistance.

Mr. Favre says he was given a hearty co-operation and is thankful for same, fully realizing and appreciating every assistance.

Two Addresses Thursday.

Two major addresses were delivered Thursday morning. County Attorney Emile Gex was the first speaker on the program, discussing the importance of the clerks organization and pointing out the value to the individual clerk as well as to the body collectively. As usual Mr. Gex presented his subject in a highly pleasing manner and the information given the clerks was valuable.

Judge V. A. Griffith, former chancellor of the eighth chancery district and at present member of the state supreme court, was honor guest of the convention Thursday and delivered a fine address on the subject of Public Service, discussing this subject from the point of view of the clerk, laying down ethical principles which should dictate the conduct of the clerk in every phase of his work. Judge Griffith is recognized as an authority par excellence regarding chancery practice and procedure and his monumental work on Mississippi Chancery Practice is equivalent to not only a text book but as a sort of encyclopedia of the chancery code, and he was eminently fitted to discuss the subject chosen.

Social Courtesies.

A number of social courtesies were extended the visiting clerks and their guests, committees from the local Chamber of Commerce being hosts for several events.

A sight seeing ride along the beach boulevard to Biloxi Tuesday afternoon and a theatre party that night at the A. G. C. Theatre were delightful and highly enjoyed by all.

Wednesday was spent at Cat Island. The boat bearing the party left Blaise's pier about 8:30 o'clock, and fishing, boating, swimming and fish fry were features of the day's sport.

The wives of the clerks who accompanied their husbands to the convention, some 12 in number, were honored Thursday noon with a luncheon at the Inn-by-the-Sea, this luncheon being arranged by the committee of local ladies including Mrs. E. J. Gex, chairman; Mrs. A. G. Favre, Mrs. Jas. A. Evans and Mrs. Emile Gex.

Annual Banquet

The annual banquet will be held at the Hotel Markham roof, Thursday night, 8 o'clock. This meeting is social in nature and all clerks and their wives and friends will participate.

The final business of the convention, namely the choice of the next convention city, will be held at the banquet.

IMPERIAL VALLEY HEAT WAVE TAKES SEVENTEEN LIVES

Whole Family Dies of Thirst As Car Stalls on Desert Road.

Blythe, Cal.—Torrid Imperial valley is experiencing one of the most stifling heat waves in its history, with a check of deaths today disclosing that seventeen persons have succumbed the last five days, including a Mexican mother and her six children, who perished of thirst on the desert.

The Mexican family group, accompanied by a Mexican man, was en route over a little used desert road when their motor car developed trouble. The entire party of eight lost their lives.

When the bodies were found it was discovered the water had been drained from the radiator of the car, presumably to drink.

Nine Others Die.

Nine other victims of the heat, mostly Mexicans and negroes, died in various cities in the valley.

Pioneers declared the heat the most oppressive in years. An extremely high humidity averaging about 78 for the past ten days was cited as the cause of suffering. Temperatures have not been abnormally high during the period, averaging about 106.

The desert victims, Enrique Armenta, Mrs. Julia Perez and her six children, were found dead in their tracks on the desert after several Mexican boys had reported the finding of Armenta's body. Early today a sheriff's party, tracing tracks from Armenta's automobile, trekked twelve miles across the wastes before they came upon the mother and her children, huddled together in death.

Perish in Desert.

The extreme heat combined with thirst, physicians said, had taken the lives of the group. From the tracks the authorities surmised the mother and children had gone in search of help after Armenta's car broke down, while Armenta remained with the machine in an effort to repair it. Armenta's body was found some distance from the automobile.

Friends said Armenta, with Mrs. Perez and the children, had left Brawley, Cal., where they lived, Sunday on a trip to Blythe, a distance of about sixty miles through a region nearly devoid of human life. This section offers little chance of escape from death under heat conditions if travelers are forced aloft.

ALMOST 1000 CARS PARKED ON BEACH DURING RACES SUNDAY

An interesting bit of calculation has been done by C. A. Breath, Sr., to estimate the number of cars which were parked along the beach Boulevard last Sunday to view the outdoor motor races.

Figuring that cars were parked 1.1 miles along the beach, in a double row and allowing 15 feet for each car to utilize in parking there were 968 cars parked, estimating that there were five people to a car, and this is a conservative estimate, then there were a total of 4,840 people viewing the races from the parked cars. This does not take into consideration those who resided here and who walked to the seaway to view the races.

"Los Angeles!" the sneering preacher cried, as Jonah might have whined, "Nineveh!" and with equal scorn. "The Spanish missionaries may have called the City of Angels, but the moving pictures have changed its name to Los Angeles! For it is the central factory of Satan and his minions, the enemy of our homes, the corrupter of our young men and women—the school of crime. Unless it reforms—and soon!—surely, in God's good time, the ocean will rise and swallow it!"

Though he was two thousand miles or more away—the Reverend Doctor Steddon was so convinced by his own prophetic ire that he would hardly have been surprised to read in the Monday morning paper that his hint and shrewdness the new Babylon off into the Pacific ocean.

But Doctor Steddon, if he could have seen the realm he obituated, would have confessed that the devil had a certain grace as a gardener and that his minions were a handsome, happy throng. As it was, Doctor Steddon had never seen Los An-

POPE PIUS LEAVES VATICAN TO BLESS 200,000 PERSONS

Long Voluntary Imprisonment Ended as Pontiff Emerges.

Vatican City.—The long voluntary imprisonment of Roman Catholic pontiffs in the Vatican came to an end on July 25, as Pope Pius XI emerged from historic St. Peter's into the famous square before it and blessed a throng of 200,000 persons that knelt before him.

Amid deep religious solemnity, broken only in the beginning by cries of "Viva Il Papa!" (Long live the Pope. The Pontiff made his way around the Bernini colonnade that circles the square behind a magnificent procession and back to a special altar at the outer end of the colonnade.

Here he halted and as the spectators, deeply stirred by the solemn moment, knelt, the Pontiff blessed them with the elevated ostensorium containing the Sacred Host which he had carried in the procession.

Americans In Throng.

In the crowd were thousands of American visitors to Rome, while in the long procession were numerous American bishops and prelates.

The procession itself, headed by the pontifical guard, started from St. Peter's at ten minutes of six and it was two hours and thirty-five minutes before the Pontiff once more disappeared within St. Peter's and the epoch-making event, made possible by the recently signed Italo-Vatican accord, had ended.

Despite the size of the crowd, everything went off smoothly. At times there were some commotions in the crowd as here and there spectators fainted in the intense heat, but temporary Italian Red Cross stations quickly cared for them.

Troops Present Arms.

About 15,000 troops were on duty in the square and surrounding streets which had been barricaded off, and as the Pope passed these troops presented arms in his honor, symbolizing the accord reached between the church and state.

As the long ceremony went on darkness began to fall and the famous square was lit up by the flickering candles carried by those in the procession until the solemn scene became one of unusual beauty and magnificence.

Although the Pope on the above date for the first time left the Vatican he was still on territory of the newly-created Vatican state, St. Peter's Square having been included in this under the recent agreement. The Pope has still to make his exit from Vatican state to Italian territory, but it is not known when he will do this.

Crowds See Pope.

The Pope was clearly visible to the massed crowds in the square. He was borne along the route of the procession protected by a baldquin of silver cloth, edged with small flags bearing the papal coat of arms.

The ten poles supporting the baldquin were carried in turn by prelates of the Vatican offices, students of the ecclesiastical colleges and of the great mission school, Propaganda Fide.

Twelve members of the noble guard, with drawn swords, marched alongside the Pontiff. They were clad in rich medieval costumes. With them were other offices of the papal household, two secret chamberlains bearing the great ostrich feather fans or "flabelli," and twelve attendants with lighted torches.

EDW. KALINSKI IS PRINCIPAL ROTARY SPEAKER

Tells Local Rotes and Guests Of Chicago School Buildings and System.

Well versed and thoroughly acquainted with his subject, Edw. Kalinski, engineer and contractor of one of Chicago's high schools was principal speaker before Bay St. Louis Rotarians and their guests at the regular weekly luncheon Wednesday.

He told how funds were raised and what it took to operate over four hundred schools in the city of Chicago. His own school has attendance of 4,500 students, he said, and employed 72 teachers. He told there were four schools exclusively devoted to crippled children and that the city transferred pupils to and fro in busses, free of charge, besides children of Chicago were supplied with their books without pay. The crippled children were given their luncheon.

Mr. Kalinski held the attention of his hearers for about fifteen minutes and proved a most interesting and constructive speaker.

Henry Osainach Wins Pin.

A Rotary pin was offered six months ago by Laurent Kergosien, member, for the member having made 100 per cent attendance with in a period of six months. Those eligible to compete, including Mr. Kergosien, who refused to draw, were Hub Canty, Jim Evans, Joe Mauffray, C. C. McDonald, Henry Osainach, Arthur Scafield, John Howze, Clem Weston and Harold Weston. Henry Osainach was the successful contestant.

RELEASED ON BOND

J. M. Brownell who was arrested some three weeks ago and held in the county jail on a charge of violating the so-called Mississippi "Sky Blue" law, was released Saturday afternoon on $1000 bond. He waived examination before a justice of the peace and his trial has been set for September 15, in the regular term of court.

Mr. Brownell was one of a group engaged in organizing and constructing a race track at Pine Hills Club and his arrest followed a complaint from a man who had purchased some stock in the Basil Horse Racing and Breeding Association of which Brownell was treasurer.

History of Seaway.

The seaway which is now a finished project began to become a fact in August 1926 when the people of Hancock County voted at the polls, August 10 to issue road protection bonds not to exceed $1,250,000, for the construction of a seaway and road along the beach front. These bonds were issued from time to time as needed.

The first time bids were advertised there was only one bid presented and this was not opened. At the second advertisement for bids the contract was let February 8, 1927, to Pryor and Oman Company of Nashville for $860,535.85, but because of some technicality in the contract, it was held illegal by Chancellor V. A. Griffith, and bids were again advertised.

The contract was finally let June 14, 1927 to C. F. Lytle and work began on the wall the middle of August of that year.

The wall was completed in July 1928.

The new seaway reaches from Bayou LaDore at the north of Bay St. Louis to Bayou Cadde at Lake Shore, connecting with the old wall in the city of Bay St. Louis. The new wall is 8.7 miles in length and with the old wall is 10.42 miles long, according to figures furnished at the completion of the new wall by Engineer J. C. Nisbet, who was in charge of the engineering on the work, representing the office of J. W. Billingsley of New Orleans, consulting engineer, who had prepared the plans for the wall and roadway.

Francis Lytle, son of C. F. Lytle, was the first superintendent on the seaway job, later being succeeded by Robert Folsom. The contract for filling in the sand behind the seaway was let to the Coastal Construction Company.

A total of 26,800 cu. yds. concrete were used in the construction of the seaway; 47,600 barrels or 190,400 bags of cement and 3,375,000 pounds of steel were used.

A total of $34,176.87 was used in repairing the old wall which was built several years ago in Bay St. Louis and which the county took over.

Regarding the Roadway.

The road of reinforced concrete which is built at the top of the seaway is 10.14 miles long, is 24 feet wide and has a four foot sidewalk and curb between the road and seaway. The Southern Paving Construction Company had the contract for this road and began work in July of last year, completing the work some six weeks ago. The sidewalk and curb were built by Lee W. King and a total of 46 pounds of steel was used to each 100 square feet of roadway. This roadway slopes gently toward the beach as a further protective measure.

Official Cost of Projects.

From the records in the Chancery Clerk's office the cost-of the seaway and roadway are given as follows: seaway, $805,157.80; roadway including sidewalk and curb, $387,354.73; engineering fees, $59,764.21.

St. Margaret's Daughters

The regular monthly meeting of St. Margaret's Daughters will be held Wednesday afternoon of next week, 9 o'clock, at the convent and all members are urged to attend.

CARING FOR THE AGED.

If a man gives a few months or years of his life in the service of his country in times of war, he has, by custom, established a claim against it for various aids and pensions. There are today many men drawing pensions from the Government who never came in the physical presence of the enemy against whom they enrolled. We are not protesting necessarily against this, but when a man or woman devotes an entire life to the up-building of the nation through years of peaceful service have they not at least some claim for protection against the extremities of poverty and need in their helpless old age?

Ten American states have some form of old age pensions. Six of these, Col., Ky., Md., Mont., Nev., and Wis., have had this legislation for several years, and four, Cal., Minn., Utah and Wyo., enacted such legislation within the last year. Six of these states placed the age limit for government aid at seventy years, while four put it at sixty-five. Seven states make the assistance $1 per day, two states $25 per month, one state $250 per year. Practically all of them require 15 years residence and provide that the recipient of aid must not own property worth $250 or $300, nor possess an independent income of $300 or $400.

Of course, there will be some who object to such social legislation on the ground that it smacks of socialism. They rely upon the extreme argument of individualism and that rendering such assistance probably tends to lessen a person's reliance upon his own efforts. But that as it may, it is only right and proper that these people, attaining such a ripe old age, should receive their moderate protection, and be allowed to wind up their last few years on earth in the little comfort which such a small annuity can give.

PERFECTION IN A HUSBAND.

Times change. Here comes Professor Charles C. Peters, of Pennsylvania State College, advocating the following type of husband as the ideal for whom women are to look:

One who must be able to repair gas or water pipes, fix things generally, manage the furnace, know how to dress and care for children, keep the home sanitary, maintain peace and harmony, tell stories, answer questions and "be prepared to sell at a maximum advantage old clothing and old furniture."

These are pretty stiff requirements for a man. Time was when a woman was required to know how to sew, cook, and perform several of the duties Professor Peters recommends to men, before being considered an ideal wife. Now the burden is shifting. Men no longer care very much about the domestic abilities of women, because of the reign of labor-saving devices, and if they did, it wouldn't do them much good as so many women the country over are devoting themselves to business and social rather than domestic arts.

THOUGHTS SENT THROUGH AIR.

Thought transference by radio was successfully accomplished in a test recently made by the National Broadcasting Company, which reports that 55 per cent of the listeners, who participated in the experiment, received accurately at least one of the three thought broadcasts.

Three thoughts, reduced to writing and placed in a sealed envelope, were "transmitted." The report says that "out of more than 2000 letters sent in from radio listeners, more than 55 per cent were accurate in at least one of the three thoughts. Of these more than 40 per cent clearly received the thought of Abraham Lincoln as 'an American President';' obviously less saw 397 as the proper number of the digits, but an amazing number clearly saw the 'geometrical figure' intended—a small house with four windows and one door, with a simple triangular roof."

ORGANIZED WORKERS.

On January 1, 1928, there were over forty-six million workers organized in various kinds of associations, according to figures printed in April by the official organ of the International Federation of Trade Unions.

More than ten million of these workers were in Russia, more than eight million in Germany, nearly five million in Great Britain and something more than four million in the United States. Compared to the figures for 1925, Russia membership shows a gain of about twenty per cent, Great Britain a decline in membership and in the United States an increase of a little less than twenty per cent.

CURRENCY, LARGE AND SMALL

The distribution of the new paper currency was attended by the usual drop of stories about its skeptical reception by morant folks. However, if there are any subscribers to The Echo who have some that they are afraid of, we might remark that subscriptions to The Echo can be paid in either large or small currency, and the larger the denomination the better the results.

WHAT WOULD EXCITE US.

We absolutely refuse to become excited over any record breaking flights, whether they stay up for months or travel for thousands of miles. For ourselves, we have had enough of them. It's getting to be as bad as the marathon dance and the foolish flagpole sitters, which, if you understand, is worse than you suspect.

A NEWSPAPER AND BAY ST. LOUIS.

THE people of Bay St. Louis should understand that The Echo, while the property of certain owners, is an institution designed to render service to the people in this community.

However, it cannot render all kinds of service without charge. The newspaper workers must be paid, the paper must be purchased, the type, ink, machinery and other vital expenses must be met. They can only be met through collections from the public.

A newspaper, like The Echo, has only two sources of revenue, from the sale of advertising and the sale of subscriptions. These are nothing to the idea that the editor gets a lot of rake-offs that he sells his editorial opinion, and is the recipient of untold bounty. If that ever was the case, it isn't the truth today.

In printing The Echo the owner assumes an expense each week. His advertisers have the option of using his columns weekly or not. His subscribers, however, pay by the year and assist in keeping up the quality of the newspaper.

To meet his expense the owner has to set a subscription price and an advertising rate. The former is usually as cheap as possible, and in the case of most newspapers barely covers the immediate cost. The advertising rate is based on circulation, which helps explain the policy in regards to subscription prices.

The Echo carries all the local news it can get in order to make the paper attractive to the people of its community of service. All of our citizens are invited to help us make this as perfect as possible. In addition, there are other attractive features printed, together with articles of editorials or news value. These are selected by the editor because he thinks they will either interest his subscribers, or else because he believes they present questions which the community should consider.

The average editor, and we present the discussion on that plane, is interested in the moral as well as the material welfare of his community. However, unlike the preacher, he gets scant consideration from the public for this upright stand. He has to look to producing a worthwhile commodity in order to get cash, and yet, the tribe of editors is so constituted, that ninety per cent of those in America will, any time, risk their economic income upon the championship of a moral issue.

The principal purpose of this article, without undue emphasis upon The Echo, is to ask you, as a reader, as a citizen of Bay St. Louis, whether you appreciate such service from your editor? Understand, we do not assert, at this time, that you are receiving such splendid editorial leadership, but the question is, have you ever thought how valuable such a fearless editorial policy would be to Bay St. Louis.

If you ask lawbreakers you will find that they fear newspaper publicity worse than they dread the law. Crooked business men, pulling sharp deals, feel the ash of publicity, when they fail to quail before the threat of eternal punishment. A newspaper, fearless and unafraid, is a power for good in Bay St. Louis just as it is anywhere in the world.

However, no newspaper of that type can exist in any town unless it has the sympathetic support of the better class of people. The editor who attempts to stage a lone fight for civic righteousness, political cleanliness or moral decency is foolish unless he knows that the hearts of this community beat with enthusiasm at his effort.

Amid all the talk that one hears about what a newspaper ought to do for a town, have you ever heard anybody say anything about what a town ought to do for a newspaper?

DO YOUNG PEOPLE KNOW?

The young people of Bay St. Louis ought to realize that they are living in an age vastly different from that which preceded them. Man has developed untold powers through modern inventions. These have made possible to those living today many things that were impossible years ago.

One illustration suffices: E. Hamilton Lee, senior pilot of the U. S. air mail service, recently celebrated his one-millionth mile in the air, accomplished without a serious accident! Two centuries ago, when the men in the world thought pretty well of the world, how long would it have taken a man to travel one million miles?

Miracles are being accomplished these days. The air mail flyer talks over wireless as he flies over a lighted course at night, and before long he will be able to see as well as talk with the girl he left behind.

What would Aristotle, greatest philosopher of the ages, think of this, if he could see it today? How would this wise man of the ancients explain the phenomena, inexplicable to the wisdom of his time?

And, yet, the average school boy or girl of Bay St. Louis passes over these, and other great achievements, without thought, classing them as commonplace.

RARE COMMON SENSE.

We hasten to chronicle the remarks of Mrs. Sarah E. Heath, of Massachusetts, who, when she heard that she had inherited $750,000, said:

"What difference does it make whether it is ten cents or ten million dollars when I haven't any use for it."

Such was her reply to a reporter who wanted to know what she would do with the money. It is reasonably safe to conclude that she will make a wise use of the fortune, in which she is not much interested.

CUT THE WEEDS.

It is rather important at this time of the year that the citizens of Bay St. Louis cut the weeds that otherwise would flourish everywhere. The presence of large weeds is not attractive, they detract from the appearance of Bay St. Louis and may seriously affect health and comfortable living.

Every citizen can show his town loyalty by taking cognizance of this menace. If your lot is full of weeds, get busy, and clean up your part of Bay St. Louis.

Man Defeats Nature.
Chain Store Growth.
Up Goes Wheat.
A Bird Bootlegger.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1927)

Man consistently surpasses the performance of nature.

Locomotive and automobile outrun the deer. Airplanes already outfly any bird, and will do better when they stop imitating birds and create an entirely new plane.

Bulls of Bashan bellowed and were heard afar. The microphone talks around the world. Man's latest defect of nature is the creation of an artificial ear "a thousand times more sensitive than the human ear, that picks up the faintest danger signals coming through the fog and tells the direction whence they come."

Anything that men can imagine they can do.

Forty-five chain store organizations, in June, did $236,281,747 business, gaining 23 per cent in a year.

Sears, Roebuck stands first with June sales of $25,747,979; Woolworth next, $23,000,000; Montgomery Ward third, $21,000,000.

Newspaper publishers are interested in the policy of General Wood, a West Pointer, now president of Sears, Roebuck. He is constantly building retail stores, promoting them with newspaper advertising.

Sears, Roebuck, it is said, plan several retail stores in all big cities, one in each smaller city.

While the Government thinks about it, Mother Nature helps some farmers by injuring the wheat crop here and in the Canadian Northwest.

The price of wheat went up everywhere, Chicago, Winnipeg, London, Buenos Aires, touching $1.36 a bushel. The price was 96 cents a few weeks ago.

It is not so pleasant for those farmers whose wheat is "irreparably ruined."

W. T. Logan, Christian missionary returning to Buffalo, from the headwaters of the Zambesi, tells of a little bird that makes a hole in the river bank clay, fills it with fruit, lets it ferment and develops alcohol.

At the proper time the bird returns to its little clay vat, takes a drink and will fight anything.

What could our prohibition forces do about that? Satan, of course, educated that bird, far back in the Garden of Eden, very likely.

SUPERSTITION IN MARRIAGE

The solemnity of marriage has been generally recognized by people of all ages, and many superstitious ideas have been associated with this contract between the two sexes.

Chinese people have a very ancient civilization and naturally have developed and handed down many peculiar ideas about the significance of the ceremony.

They believe domestic trouble will come upon anyone who is married within one hundred days after a funeral.

Among other superstitions, they think:

If a bride breaks the heel of her shoe in going from her father's to her husband's house, she will be an unhappy wife.

A piece of bacon and a little package of sugar are hung on the back of the bride's vehicle to keep off demons who might spoil her wedding journey.

A bride stands in a round shallow basket while putting on her wedding clothes, so she will have a well-rounded, peaceful married life.

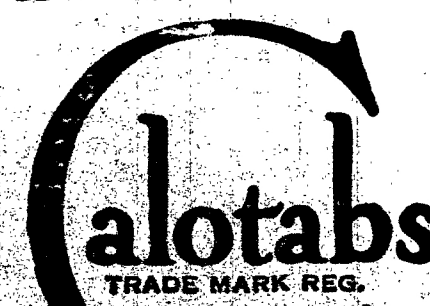

For four months after her marriage a bride must not go into a house where there has been a death or a birth, or she will quarrel with her husband.

At her last meal in her father's house half her bowl of rice, must be left, or she will always have a scarcity of food in her new home.

Little Echoes

Important news: August is a five pay day month.

Harken to the man who says that he doesn't know much about it.

To hear some of the modern wets tell it, liquor never hurt anybody.

Cruisers, about which there has been so much talk, may be scrapped after all.

Our idea of an insect is going around the neighborhood and asking, "is it hot enough for you?"

Correct this sentence: "I want to get off for a few hours this afternoon to see a sick friend."

The few people who owe us evidently do not catch the waves of thought that we transmit.

Well, there may not be any more girls today than there used to be but there seems to be more of them.

The couples who are interested in divorce laws could put their attention on something else without as much danger.

Honest to goodness, when a subscriber pays for this newspaper promptly it makes us feel that, after all, we are getting along in life.

Our extra slice of pie for this week is awarded the office manager, who every week (almost) comes around with the well known and earned stipend.

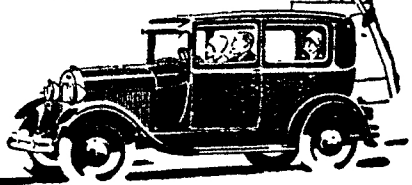

If a census was taken of the swings on the porches of Bay St. Louis it would be found that most of them are occupied regularly and exclusively.

Careless automobile drivers should be prohibited from driving cars. Sooner or later we will come to this in Bay St. Louis and maybe save a few lives.

LARGEST NUMBER BOATS ENTER OUTBOARD MOTOR RACES LAST SUNDAY

Great Crowd Watches Four Races in Which Fast Boats, Good Seamanship, Excellent Sportsmanship Prevail—Next Race Scheduled For August 25.

The greatest outboard motor race ever held on a Bay St. Louis course was that run Sunday on the course at the mouth of Jordan River in which the largest number of entries yet placed for any race here participated.

Breath & Cue of Bay St. Louis sponsored this race, the second of a series, the third to be held August 25, and an invitation is extended by the sponsors to all boats which participated in the race Sunday to enter the third of the series. The merchants of Bay St. Louis cooperated in a fine manner to make the races most popular by donating twelve handsome cups, three for each of the four races, these cups being awarded to the winners from the judge's boat at the close of the races.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 persons lined the beach boulevard for several miles and spectators filled the seawall steps watching the races. Cars from three states predominated on the boulevard where Louisiana and Alabama licenses were almost as numerous as those of Mississippi, while a bus was chartered to bring a crowd of interested spectators and boosters from Houma and Patterson, La., there being entries from these two towns, as well as from a number of other cities including Shreveport and Baton Rouge in Louisiana and Greenwood, Leland, Clarksdale and all Coast cities in Mississippi, and Mobile in Alabama.

Winners of Races. As announced by the judges, Emilio Cue and Walter Gex, Jr., first, Whiz Bang of Mobile owned by Blancy Baker; second, Golden Arrow of Biloxi, skippered by H. Pickich; third, Dutch O-8 of Greenville, driven by R. P. Drew. There were five other entries in this race. Boats and skipper follow: Sonny Boy, Walter Craft, N. R. Howard, New Orleans; Doupage, Bay St. Louis; E-M 1, S. J. Gainelli, Baton Rouge; Speed Unfinished, H. B. Howard, New Orleans; Half Pint, Taylor, Pass Christian.

Class C Winners were: First, Dodge II of Baton Rouge, driven by T. J. Hogue, second, Mildred II of Houma, La., skippered by J. H. Davis; third, Miss Leland of Leland, Miss., driven by A. Carroll. Eleven other boats entered this race and boats and drivers follow: Miss Evynude, Louis Wagner, New Orleans; Darn II, J. Know, Al Speiss, Waveland; Golden Arrow, Dodge II, T. J. Hogue, Baton Rouge; Speed Craft; Unfinished; Whiz Bang II; Half Pint; Golden Star; Machine Gun; Mauser; Bocket, Buc Shad, Patterson.

In the final race of motor, first place was won by Sea Sled of Bay St. Louis, driven by Alden Mauffray of Bay St. Louis; second by Baby Elaine owned by Dr. F. J. Lizana of Bay St. Louis and driven by W. J. Grevenberg of Baton Rouge; third, Nan N. owned by Mrs. S. B. Judson of Bay St. Louis and driven by Mickler of New Orleans. Seven other boats entered this race, namely: Miss Fire, Allan Steiner, New Orleans; Sea Sled; Hobo, A. T. Leonard, Bay St. Louis; Dark Horse, Alex Cospelick, Bay St. Louis; Flamir Coffin, Blanchard, Green Street, Waveland; Bay St. Louis; Peter Rabbit, H. Pickich, Biloxi.

Official Boats. The Mary Anne, owned and captained by Horatio Weston of Logtown, assisted by Russel Manieri of Bay St. Louis, acted as pacer for the races. The Interference, owned by C. A. Breath, Jr., and Captain Judkins' boat were the two stake boats.

Visiting Boats. Harry B. Williams, better known to Coast people as the husband of Miss Marguerite Clark, screen star, sent three boats from Patterson, La. The boats failed to place due to some hard luck but their presence at the races was greeted with interest and welcome. Mr. Williams flew over Sunday to witness the races.

Protection. As a protection to those taking part in the races and in case of accidents C. A. Breath, Sr., starter and one of the promoters of the races, had a pulmotor and doctor on hand at the races.

LIKES ECHO EDITORIAL

Bay St. Louis, Miss., July 29, 1929.
Editor Sea Coast Echo:

I wish to commend you for the timely and excellent editorial which recently appeared in the columns of your publication, relating to the practice of placarding improved property with sale signs of all description and vintage.

The old signs make it plainly visible the place is either not salable or too exorbitant a price is asked. In other words, no one wants it.

I write this not only to speak a word of praise for your well-balanced editorial page and complete local news service, but to ask, has anyone ever sold a property that was placarded with signs for sale?

Respectfully,
A LOVER OF BAY ST. LOUIS.

Read with much interest your article "Horse Shoes and Luck" in your July 5th issue, will endeavor to say a word or two about horse shoes and luck.

I was on one of my auto tours sometime ago where I picked up a horse shoe, but I did not pick it up with my hands, I picked it up in my right front tire a 30 x 5.77. I changed my tire and then proceeded on my way, going about 2 miles I saw another horse shoe this time I made

He is an attorney and has been connected with the field supervision work for some twenty years. Members of the supreme board of trustees reelected were W. E. Thompson, Port Huron Mich., and Ed L. Jeffries of Detroit, Milo Meredith of Indiana and Mr. McFarland of Chicago.

Mississippians who are members of the Maccabees are interested to know that this state ranks third in point of cost of production of new business in the entire jurisdiction and Mr. Cochran was complimented on this record.

sure to avoid picking it up passed around it and continued on my journey only a short distance I came to another halt to my sorrow that I missed the horse shoe but picked up the nail. I don't know if the devil was out on one of his devilment tours or not, but I don't believe in horse shoes or nails either.

COULD NOT WALK FOR ANY DISTANCE

"I spent hundreds of dollars trying to overcome my troubles, but nothing helped me until I took Sargon. I don't think any one ever had a worse case of stomach trouble, I lost weight and strength and could not walk any distance without gasping for breath. I had a tired, dull aching feeling all the time. I was so nervous I could hardly sleep at night. I was treated for gall bladder and lay in the hospital for eleven months. I was almost dead and all the members of my family and all my friends will tell you the same thing.

I started taking Sargon and now I am a well woman. I never have indigestion. I sleep well and my strength and weight have increased wonderfully. I am convinced that Sargon saved years of life for me as well as sums of money.

"I will always feel grateful for this wonderful medicine." Mrs. Susie Berry, Route 2, Mendonville, Mississippi. Mrs. Berry is a mother of seven children and a member of the Baptist church.

A "Chamber of Death" test is your guarantee of FLY-TOX efficiency. The FLY-TOX Chamber of Death" is a small room in which live, healthy insects are turned loose. They are strong and lively. As they fly and buzz around inside the "Chamber of Death," FLY-TOX is sprayed inside. Less than a teaspoonful is used. Almost at once the buzzing stops. Within five minutes all is still. The insects are dead. This test shows you how quick and positive FLY-TOX works. Just what you need for those pesky flies and mosquitoes that both harm and annoy. FLY-TOX is positively harmless to people. It has a delightful perfume-like fragrance that pervades a room like delicate incense. It is stainless. A STATEMENT BY MRS. E. J. LEONHARD

To the General Public:
In justice to the King's Daughters and Sons Circle at Bay St. Louis I feel that I should make a statement regarding the proposed Emergency Hospital building which this organization is attempting to erect and fund, for which are being solicited from the people of Bay St. Louis and community.

There is heard some criticism from people solicited regarding the location of the lot which I have donated for the building, some stating that it is not satisfactorily located for a hospital. I believe that some people who have made such criticisms do not rightly know where the lot is located and have not inspected it. I saw the need of a hospital building here and having this lot, which is pleasantly located a short distance from the beach in a quiet section, sufficiently removed from the center of the city to be away from the noise, a lot which is high and dry, gave it to the King's Daughters. However, I wish to say to those who make the criticism that the lot is not well located, that if they have a lot which is better located, which they will donate to the King's Daughters for a hospital building site, neither I as donor, nor the King's Daughters and Sons Circle as acceptors of the gift will feel badly about such a gift of a better located lot and will gladly accept it.

I make an appeal to everyone interested in seeing a good hospital erected in Bay St. Louis to give this matter thought and then make their donation toward this fine work. All checks should be sent to Mrs. A. F. Fournier, president.

Respectfully,
MRS. E. J. LEONHARD.

Home From Hospital

HIGH LIGHTS ON TRIP THROUGH NORTH AND EAST

"There were so many high lights on our trip that it is hard to single out any particular one," Miss Miriam Engman said, discussing the extensive tour from which she and sister, Miss Levin Engman, have recently returned. They spent a week in Atlantic City where they attended the annual convention of the Women's Benefit Association of which lodge they are active members and enjoyed the meeting with the 15,000 women of the organization who were in attendance. A high light at the convention was the wonderful presentation of the drills by 3,000 women participating, and yet another light was a pleasant personal conference with Mrs. Bina West Miller, head of the association.

A week was spent in New York where shopping, viewing the new styles, gaining ideas to incorporate in their own store here, and seeing the current shows were points of happy memory. A brief visit to Chicago and a delightful stay in St. Louis are memorable. At St. Louis the Misses Engman were guests of relatives and friends including their cousin, Dr. Martin Engman. Business was combined with pleasure in St. Louis where an extensive stock of fall merchandise was purchased for the store here. "We were there earlier than the rush season buyers and had ample opportunity to visit the shops and purchase distinctive goods," Miss Engman said.

Both enjoyed their trip but are happy to be back at home.

PARTY GREAT SUCCESS.

The benefit card party given Wednesday afternoon jointly by the King's Daughters and St. Margaret's Daughters at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club proved a great success, there being 38 tables of players present. Every member of the two organizations is to be congratulated upon the excellent response of members and friends and all committees did excellent work. There were prizes awarded at each table. Bridge, 500 and lotto were played. The entrance prize was won by Mrs. Henry Peters. The three cakes were awarded to Sam Piazza, Mrs. H. C. Canby and little Miss Catherine. Thriftily, a fine sum was realized. This sum is to be devoted to the purchase of materials to be sold at the booths by the two organizations Saturday during the seawall celebration when a large crowd of visitors is expected in the Bay.

ENJOY SHORT COURSE

The five women from Hancock county, namely, Mrs. John Wheat, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Gracie Lee, Mrs. Sam Martin and Mrs. Albert Shaw, who attended the short course at A. & M. College last week in company with the home demonstration agent, Miss Mayme O'Dom, returned Saturday night and report a thoroughly enjoyable trip as well as an unusually successful period of study of those courses which will be of greatest use to the women of the club work.

Great Grand-Daughter Born

Mrs. Darby was formerly of New Orleans and Covington, Ky., but is now a permanent resident of Baton Rouge where Mr. Darby has his business.
